Hunger is a serious issue in Williamson County:
- There is a Meal Gap in Williamson County. 65,940 individuals, or 13.9 percent of residents, do not know where their next meal will come from.
- 19.7 percent of children under 18 years old, or 25,680 kids, are hungry or facing hunger.
- Of those children, 54 percent are not income-eligible for federal nutrition assistance.

Today the Central Texas Food Bank provides enough food to support 25,050 individuals in Williamson County each year.

In FY 2016, the Food Bank distributed 5,110,145 pounds of food to Williamson County through its 27 Partner Agencies and programs.

Here’s how the five largest Partner Agencies in Williamson County made a difference in FY 2016:

Round Rock Serving Center - Round Rock
- Served an average of 3,864 individuals each month
- Distributed 1,116,649 pounds of food

Reveal Resource Center - Cedar Park
- Served an average of 5,631 individuals each month
- Distributed 619,462 pounds of food

Caring Place - Georgetown
- Served an average of 1,374 individuals each month
- Distributed 585,100 pounds of food

Shepherd’s Heart - Taylor
- Served an average of 3,599 individuals each month
- Distributed 373,954 pounds of food

Hill Country Community Ministries
- Served an average of 1,188 individuals each month
- Distributed 338,734 pounds of food

Our capacity building grants provided agencies additional food storage space.
- Round Rock Serving Center received two freezers and a cooler
- Hill Country Community Ministries received a walk-in cooler

Our Nutrition Education classes provided clients with resources to make healthy choices for themselves and their families.
- Held 24 cooking demonstrations and nutrition classes

In partnership with Feeding America

6500 Metropolis Dr., Austin, TX 78744 | 512-282-2111 | centraltexasfoodbank.org